STUDENT GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION

Activities of Student Organizations closely or directly related to the instructional program of departments, divisions and schools are guided by these agencies and considered to be part of the Instructional program of the University.

The Memorial Union serves as the Hub of Student Activities.

The University's high-technology thrust, as based upon its liberal arts foundation, is particularly suited to addressing the nation's critical manpower priorities including: an acute shortage of nurses and other health care professionals; the increasing importance of telecommunications technology; and the increasing need for business, agricultural and economic experts. In addition, there is a dire need to greatly increase the graduation of minority Ph.D's and researchers in such critical areas as accounting, bio-technology, computer science, mathematics, mechanical engineering, and electrical engineering. This is our mandate and we shall continue to meet it head on as we celebrate our Centennial year and then focus on our entrance into a new century.

Celebration and Challenge: A Second Century

Here at A&T there is a strong willingness among students to work with administration and faculty in the positive solution of any problems they may encounter. Most students on campus are well read and desire very much to gain a high quality education.

We find ourselves facing unlimited opportunities and we face the future with the firm belief that we are building a University to educate men and women in the greatest tradition of scholarly achievements and service to our society.

CELEBRATION
AND CHALLENGE:
A SECOND CENTURY
1891-1991

Students who are taught at A&T are led to know and to achieve at the highest level of their potentialities. They are encouraged and given much assistance in developing independent action and thought. The faculty is at the heart of everything that is being taught.

The Athletic program is an integral part of the total educational process.

Consistent with winning basketball games, our cheerleaders are also winners!

Cheerleaders Victories

Even better are some of the stunt relays which require each Cheerleader to know. Some of the entertainment of the Cheerleaders are quite appropriate and in general they take into consideration those types of stunts that are less dangerous. In addition, practices and performances allow for the entire group to participate.

Coach Corbett holds ball, take active role in coaching the team before, during and after each game. He has contributed greatly toward the success of our Aggie Basketball Team. Qualifications, Selections, and duties of each player points toward academics.

Coach Ralph Brown, the "Man" of the Hour

Many of the recreational activities are made possible by Coach Brown.

Students are encouraged to take the initiative to request programs of their desire.

Faculty, Staff and Students serve on the Intramurals Sports Board.

Vice Chancellor Handy greets the Lionel Hampton Orchestra and Audience.

In Recognition Of Outstanding A&T Contributors

Dr. Dorothy Prince-Barnett serves as the first female Dean of A&T. A&T Chancellor, Dr. Edward B. Fort, who named Prince-Barnett to the deanship said "she exhibited outstanding leadership at the University, as evidenced by her recent involvement of the School of Education in preparations for the successful visitation and evaluation by the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education/State Department of Public Instruction (NCAT/SDPI)."

Prince-Barnett sees her role in administration to "have high expectations of everyone. People deliver what they are expected to do, including our students." She credits her husband, Dr. Isaac Barnett, who retired from A&T after 43 years and "the other fine people at A&T" with being her inspiration. "I feel that A&T is my home," she said.

Prince-Barnett holds the A.B. degree from Oberlin College; M.A., from Syracuse University, and Ed.D., from Indiana University.

Dr. Dorothy Prince-Barnett, Dean
School of Education

Mrs. Dorothy Ramsey-Copeland, Community Relations Director at the University, coordinates interaction with local educational agencies, intergovernmental agencies, local foundations and local leaders. She has served the University as Assistant Title III Coordinator, Administrative Secretary and Secretary. In addition to being appointed Executive Director of the University's Centennial Celebration in 1991, she also received an honor from the YMCA "Winning Women Work Place."

Mrs. Copeland is a graduate of the 1987 class of Leadership Greensboro, a member of the Greensboro Chamber of Commerce and also a member of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority.

Copeland holds the M.S. degree in Business Education and the M.S. degree in Guidance from A&T State University - A true Aggie.

Interesting Variations of Activities

The Cost of Education

There is no substitute for a quality education. It is seldom advisable extending the course of Study for more than five years. After five years the individual student will readily detect that something is wrong. Many times students find ways and gain their own insights and make good decisions on personal growth.

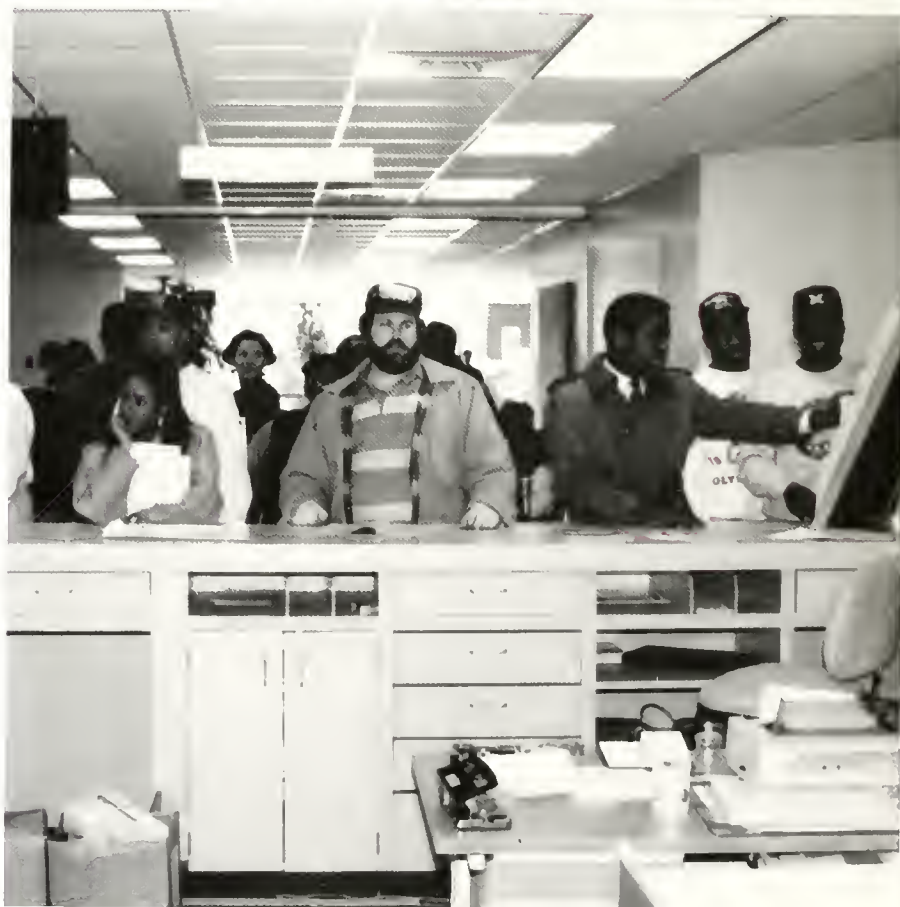

Students take increasing responsibility for Self-discovery and self-management.

Lectures, Seminars and workshops are visible throughout the year.

Services are available to students year round for enrollment.

Administrators please keep in mind our funds are limited.

A&T Launches a New Century: Reaching Out, Helping all Students.

Understanding our past will provide a better perspective for what we now do.

We have charge of our lives and have a mandate to implement our course of study.

Students are clearly challenged to help make education a dynamic and growing experience.

Deidre Smith, Coordinator of Miss Collegiate's visitation

This year, the pageant was held at Universal Studios in Los Angeles and was televised via satellite to more than 75 stations. In just seven years, the pageant has become an international event and is also televised throughout Africa.

A.J. Johnson was the event's first queen in 1985. She went on to star in the hit movie "House Party" and has appeared in numerous television shows, including "The Fresh Prince of Bel-Air," "The Iriah Thomas Story" and "Amen." This year, Johnson will be co-starring with Julia Roberts in her next movie release. Recording star "Sybil" former Miss A&T was also a past participant of the pageant.

Crowned this year was Tiffany Williams, from Grambling State University in Louisiana.

The Pageant symbolizes not just the realization of a young visionary's dream ...

but a concentrated effort to escalate awareness of a culture rich in heritage and value.

Miss A&T, Pamela Askew and SGA President, Zanda P. Bryant participated in the festivities of Tiffani.

Breaking new grounds for the next century. A future to fulfill.

These students are in many ways very diverse. Aggressively leaping into the future.

And if you get somebody to deliver the eulogy, tell them not to talk to long . . . Tell them not to mention that I have a Nobel Peace Prize, that isn't important. Tell them not to mention that I have three or four hundred other awards, that's not important. Tell them not to mention where I went to school . . . I'd like somebody to mention that day that . . . "Martin Luther King, Jr. tried to give his life serving others". I'd like for somebody to say that day, that . . . "Martin Luther King, Jr. tried to love somebody". I want you to say that day (Here the shift from "somebody" to "you" evidences greater closeness, pull the holistic thinker close to the message, involves him) . . . "I (Here, the switch from his name to I marks a greater closeness also. It is the context of usage that marks whether first person "I" is used for closeness (holistic) or distance (analytic)) tried to be right on the war question. I want you to be able to say that day, that 'I did try to feed the hungry' And I want you to be able to say that day, that "I did try, in my life, to clothe those who were naked. I want you to say, on the day, that . . . "I did try, in my life, to visit those who were in prison'. I want you to say that . . . "I tried to love and serve humanity."

Students And Memories

Memories are precious. There are probably as many definitions of memories as there are books on the subject. Many of these definitions are relatively concise and often simplistic. Names are important for many memories because they play such a significant role in our lives. Let us remember our Freshman class officers. Calvin, Kimberly, Tonya, Khari and Ramona.

Sophomore Class

As any student can attest, far more people are involved in shaping their early and ongoing educational and intellectual developments than the eye can see.

Splashing And Unique ...

Model Unique — The dress code innovators for the future. Students are given many opportunities to share their creative skills with the student body.

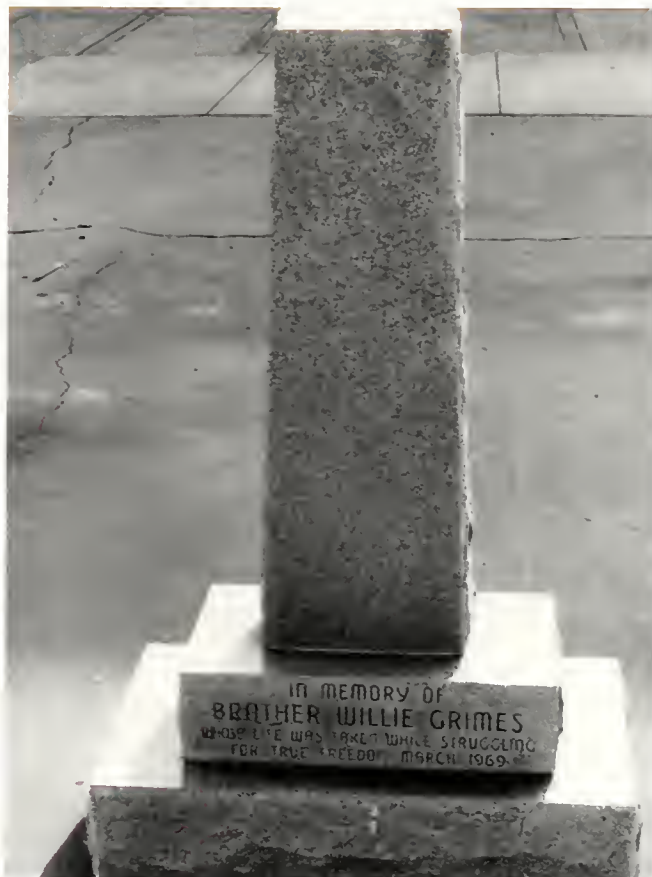

We aim not only for high improvement in knowledge but we also aim for continued loyalty and a Love for our excellent University. Every effort is given to us in order that we may accomplish the highest levels of aspirations.

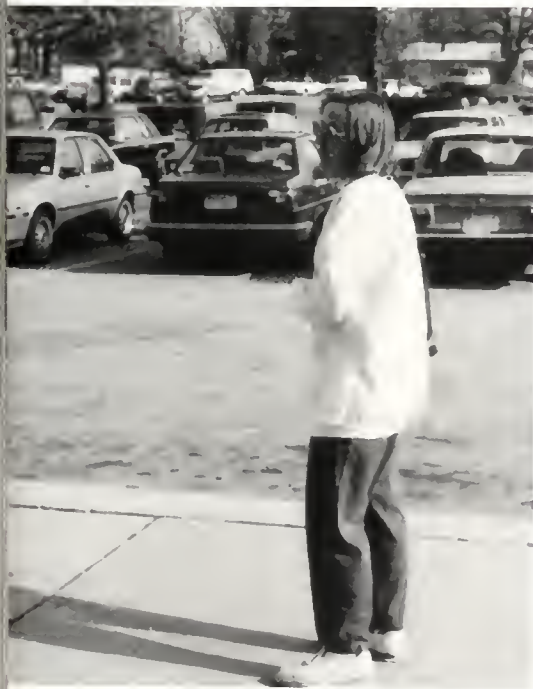

Our Respect For Higher Education And Its Contributions To Mankind.

Students travel all across the country and see many people. Yet, they are too bashful to take a photograph for their Avantee yearbook. Stop hiding Sheila.

Long-term Educational undertakings by students.

Student Life and Academics. A Winning Combination. We are SPURRED by the desire and hope for great dividends. Our future economic movement will be or should be standing on both feet.

Proof of Superb Learning

Knowledge is gained within the Residence Halls. High Tech programs are enjoyed.

The exchange of ideas through the implementation of programs are presented for strengthening individual students and groups, on a timely basis throughout the day at A&T. Proof of superb teaching and learning can be seen.

Images, Membership, Education

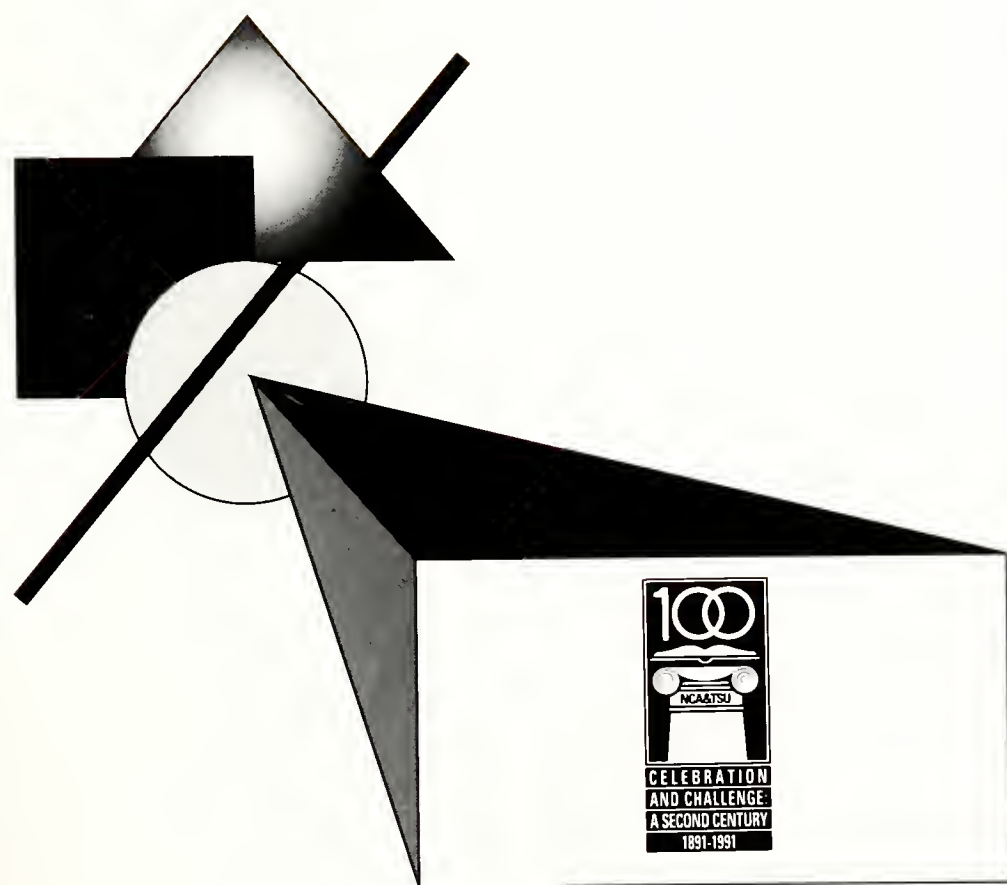

All of these focuses are significant in the students' daily walk on the campus of A&T and are complementary to effectiveness for their particular goals and objectives. We know that students are developing mastery. Says Twin!

DR. & MRS. EDWARD B. FORT
Celebration And Challenge

As the new century rapidly approaches, North Carolina Agricultural and Technical State University finds itself in an excellent position to render greater service to the nation and the world than it has done for 100 years. The challenges are grave ones. Dynamic and revolutionary changes sweeping the world in eastern Europe, Africa, Asia and the Persian Gulf, attest to the global impact and significance of developments in this great nation. At stake is world economic leadership. Chancellor Edward B. Fort formally has requested authorization for N.C. A&T State University's first doctoral programs.

If the University of North Carolina Board of Governors approves the request, it would mark the first major challenge of mission for A&T since 1972, when the historically black campus joined the UNC system.

Desirable And Sincere Convictions

After eating in the Canteen, make a wise choice and attend all classes.

You must study hard and when necessary take time out for yourself.

In the U. S. Airforce Program, students are well disciplined.

Student groups have been formed with other abilities needed for self-guidance.

Necessary Characteristics Of Student Life

Listen to peer suggestions and ideals. Be objective-minded

Give respect to all leaders and secure the necessary facts before criticizing

Simulating peers to attend planned programs in an orderly manner

Develop a sensitivity, an understanding, and an appreciation of social responsibilities

Student Groups And Service Projects

Many service projects are closely allied to the student or groups interests.

The purposes of organized groups are quite comprehensive.

Members of organizations are inspired through invited lecturers also.

Much attention is given when it comes to helping the Red Cross.

Plan, Think Through, Inaugurate, Stimulate, And Cooperate

Besides the beneficial results that naturally accrue from attending college, greater and far-reaching results are to be realized through actual on the job training. By planning, preparing and applying learned skills, many concomitant dividends will be realized.

We are grateful to our faculty, for encouraging and preparing us for future challenges.

In advancing toward graduation, we can truly say that our experiences have been rewarding.

Almost in every instance, our student leaders attend University Committee Meetings.

You must have a special interest in your chosen field of study.

Miss A&T, Pamela Askew dedicates to the Cause. Keep the lovely Personality.

Goals and Objectives in the world of work. Accomplishments ...

Adaptability to purpose and attractiveness goes hand and hand.

The Inside View Aggie Corner

In designing the many activities and programs at A&T and off-campus, it has been seriously proposed that students and their activities are of much value.

We urge you to establish good rapport with peers and others around you.

The Greek Step Show

Much time and energy goes toward planning and implementing Activities.

A Continuous flow of ideas and cooperation goes hand and hand.

Several approaches that are appropriate are utilized for better effects of assisting students with personal, intellectual, social, physical, political and religious aspects of their college experience.

Life can be fun when traveling with the Aggies. We are on the move!

Mr. Mooney enjoys fellowship with Aggies.

Days of Olde ...

Education is so uncomplicated and easy to apply. It can be summed up in four words. "Submit Your Application Today"

All students aspiring to significant wealth, must study hard in the New Bluford Library.

Students come to A&T from Dare to Cherokee! We want others!

The Sincere Dedication ... Long Walk to and From Classes

THE UNIVERSITY CHOIR
One of Elegance and Sophistication.

Making Significant Contributions to the University Community.

Communication and exchange of ideas are encouraged. Usually students tap existing resources on campus to assist them with activities.

Developmental of personal skills related to growth, maturity, and self-confidence are experienced

Organizations and Their Activities

Fraternities and Sororities are supportive of campus activities.

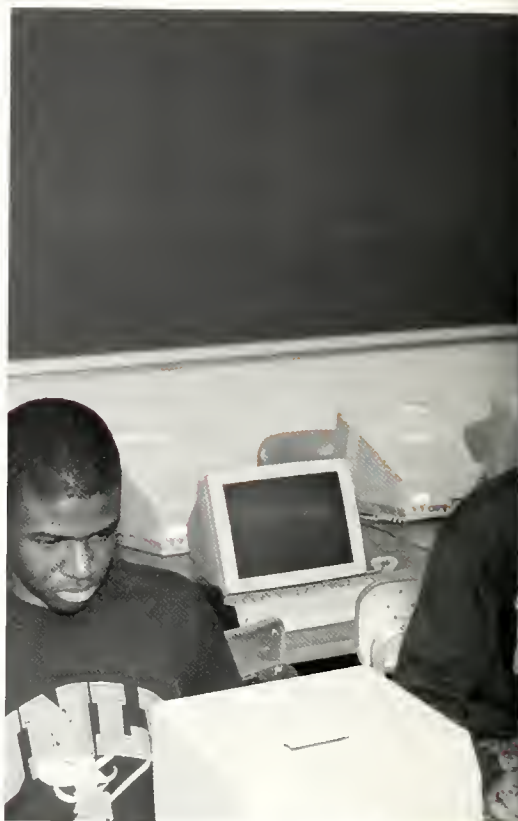

Miss A&T and Russell Stands ready for posing everytime for Coach Brown.

A Combination of Social Activities And Academics

Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority Performs at Spring Step Show

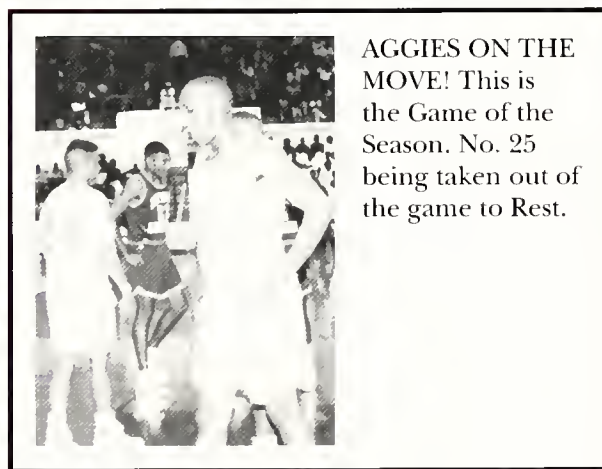

Bluford Library attracts more students than any facility and or Service on Campus.

P.E. Classes are in session in our historic C.W. Moore Gymnasium.

Computer Classes are offered at the Ron E. McNair Facility 24 hrs. a day and then some! Work is never completed.

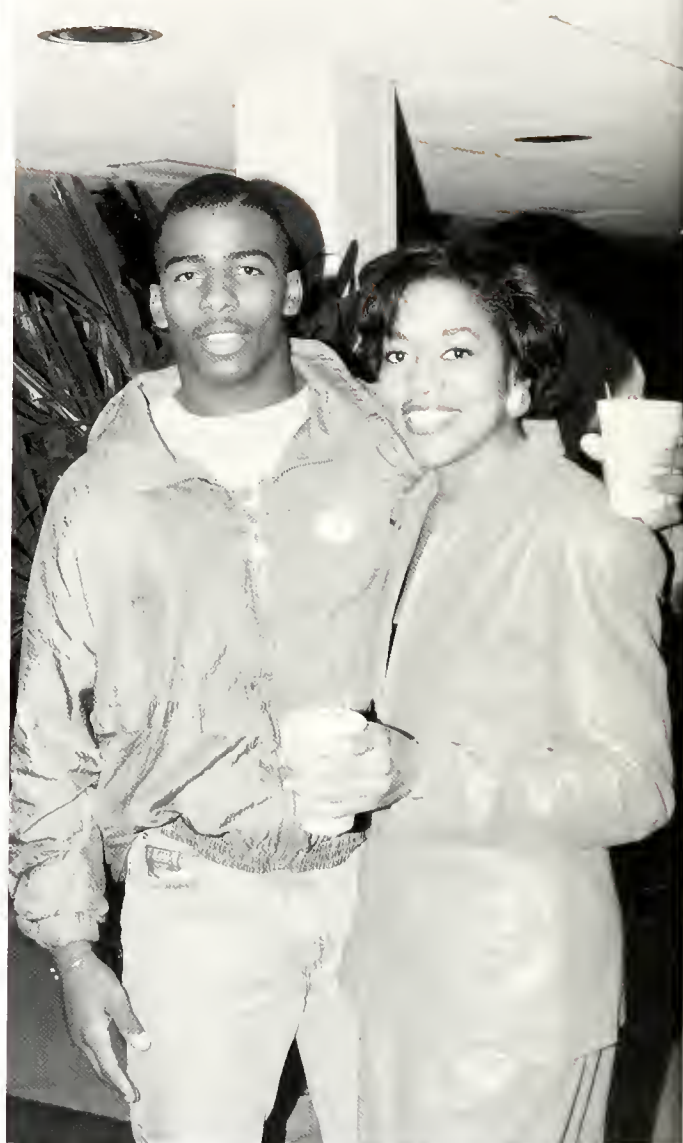

AGGIES ON THE MOVE! This is the Game of the Season. No. 25 being taken out of the game to Rest.

We encourage all students to wear "Aggie Paraphernalia" Check in the Office of Student Activities.

These are interesting days. Yesterday, it was hot, hot, hot ... Today, Coats.

The beautiful Campus of A&T. Green Grass, Green Trees, No Leaves.

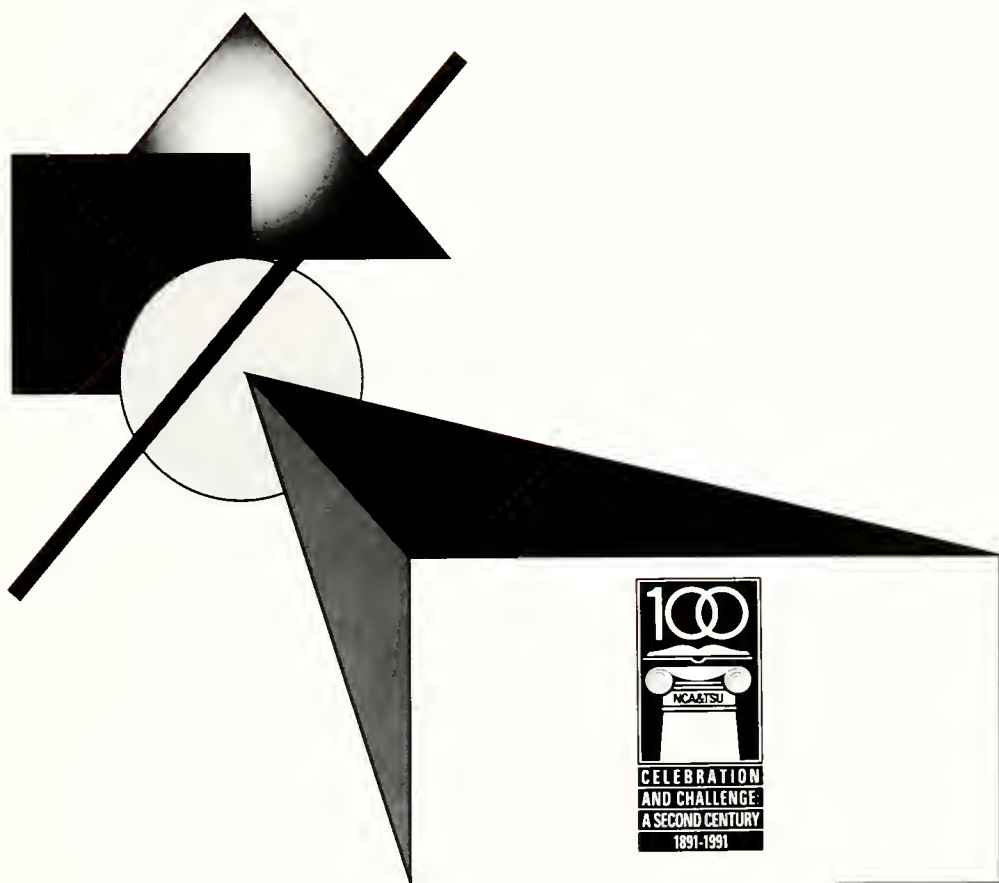

You all Come back Now!! You Hear!

Both Carlton and Rodney are encouraged to attend Coach Brown's fitness Program.

Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, Inc.

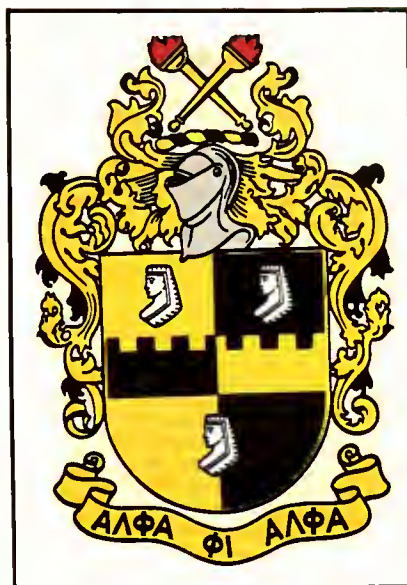

The object of Alpha Phi Alpha is to stimulate the ambition of its members; to prepare them for the greatest usefulness in the cause of humanity, freedom and dignity of the individual; to encourage the highest and noblest form of manhood to aid down - trodden humanity in its efforts to achieve higher social economic and intellectual status; thus creating a most unforgettable motto "First of all servants of all, we shall transcend all."

We, the brothers of Beta Epsilon, the reigning National Undergraduate Chapter of the year, have worked endlessly in supporting a program that has upheld the aims and aspirations of our great fraternity.

Vice Chancellor Welborne chats with Dr. Deborah Calloway.

Dr. Ronald E. McNair represented the best as a product of this world-class University and this nation. He manifested an unquenchable thirst for excellence and achievement, and settled for nothing less than the best in the accomplishment of his own personal goals. He was no mere dreamer because Dr. McNair's boyhood dreams were, in reality, visions of what this remarkable human being was, ultimately, to accomplish.

Each year it is a pleasure for the North Carolina A&T State University family to pause and to recognize and honor the memory of the late distinguished Astronaut and American hero, Dr. Ronald E. McNair. As one of this University's outstanding sons and role models, his passing in 1986 left a void in our lives but the memories of the superb quality of his life remain as a tremendous inspiration and challenge for us all.

As we assembly here today, we thank God for sharing this magnificent individual with us and for permitting us to experience his love and concern for his campus and his nation.

Rhoers - Philos

Sigma Gamma Rho is a nonprofit, collegiate sorority dedicated to the encouragement and promotion of high scholastic attainment, community service and improvement of the quality of our lives and the society in which we live. Its slogan, "Greater Service, Greater Progress", serves as a foundation for its objectives and activities.

The organization's structure includes chapters, areas, regions, and the National Headquarters in Chicago, Illinois. Its official publication is the AURORA.

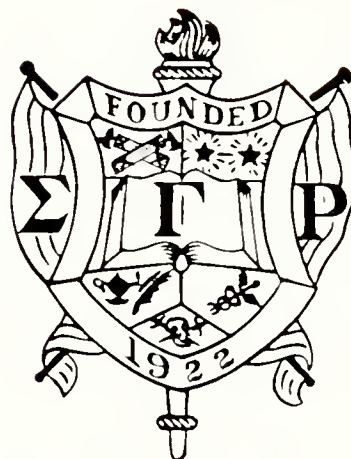

The elected officers and members of the Board of Directors provide national leadership for the growth and development of youth. Working directly with undergraduate chapters are dedicated advisors, Undergraduate Chapter Coordinators, the Second Grand Anti-Basileus and five Youth Service Coordinators. (The later two positions are held by undergraduate Board members.)

This Is The Time For Operation Santa Claus

Operation Santa Claus was started eighteen years ago here at North Carolina Agricultural and Technical State University by Hattie H. Liston, an Associate Professor of Psychology. Operation Santa Claus has become an annual tradition.

Liston utilized the project as an activity of the Psychology Club, which she organized and advised for Psychology majors and all other interested persons, regardless of their major, in the University.

Operation Santa Claus allows students to collect clothes, toys and accessories (whether they are new or used), that are in good condition for males and females of all ages. The gifts will then be labeled, wrapped, and given to the residents of Butner Hospital in Butner, North Carolina.

With occasional assistance from various social clubs, fraternities, and community groups, many students enjoy this activity. There is a lot of sharing to go along with each wrapped item.

Television and press coverage are the media that recognize the efforts of these willing students. Liston says, "We all enjoy this activity very much, and we feel like we were carrying out the spirit of Christmas by reaching out to persons bringing them smiles and joy."

Mrs. Carrie H. Waldrum

Dr. Crosby, the College's first president, 1892-1896, was reared in Raleigh, N.C., and attended Shaw University. He designed the Administration Building for the newly organized Agricultural and Mechanical College, and made the first of the bricks with which the edifice was constructed. In 1894, he planned the North Dormitory which housed 100 students in thirty-eight rooms.

Dr. John O. Crosby
(1892-1896)

The North Dormitory was demolished and replaced by a fine arts building in summer of 1895. There was a well arranged laundry for instructional purposes as well as for students use. A greenhouse with ample capacity for College needs and a bell tower were included; most of the food was produced on the College farm.

President Crosby's leadership ended in 1896. He returned to Salisbury, N.C., where he served as principal of the State Normal School and remained in the position until the institution merged with Livingston College.

There's been an "A" - standing for agriculture - in North Carolina A&T State University since the institution was founded, in 1891. In those days, it was North Carolina A&M College, and the "M" was for mechanical. As the nature of applied sciences changed, "mechanical" became "technology." As the institution grew, "college" became "university." But throughout 100 years of change and growth, an "A" has been right in the center of the institution's name, and the "A" has stood for agriculture.

Days Gone By (1901-1906)

Home of Dr. & Mrs. James B. Dudley

Their transportation was different but girls first attended A&T from 1901 through 1906. They were re-admitted in 1928. The three instructors at right are: D. K. Cherry, George B. Love and B. W. Barnes.

When Dr. Dudley assumed the Presidency, there were fifty-eight students who lived in one brick dormitory and pursued their studies under eight teachers in one classroom building. Water was obtained from one well on campus covering twenty-five acres, and the total value of the college was estimated at $50,000, but the institution's prestige was sagging as a result of internal and external conflicts.

(1896-1925)

After eight years, in 1904, guided by Dudley's energetic and resourceful leadership the college had made certain specific gains. The Legislature appropriated $606,000 in 1923. Erected from these monies were Morrison Hall; Murphy Hall, which included the dining room, kitchen, and ice plant; a power plant, a modern laundry, a garage and the Agriculture Building. Noble Hall, named honoring Marcus Cicero Stephens Noble who, for forty-three years was a member of the Board of Trustees.

SECOND PRESIDENT A. and M. College

Former Crosby Hall
Built in 1896.

Dudley was blessed with a wife, Susie Wright Sampson and two daughters. On Saturday evening, April 4, 1925, at home, he expired.

Dr. Ferdinand D. Bluford
(1925 - 1955)

Third President A. & T.

Prior to coming to the Agricultural and Technical College, Dr. Bluford held many teaching positions. Upon the death of Dr. Dudley, he was appointed acting President. On June 13, 1925, he was chosen unanimously by members of the Board of Trustees as the third president.

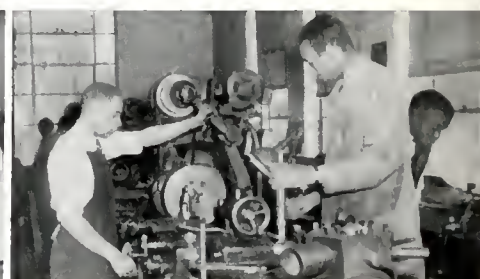

In Bluford's administration, A&T developed from a small N.C. Land-Grant College to one of the nation's most important Colleges. Ever growing, the campus by 1955 included 110 acres while the farm land reached a total of 672 acres and included a dairy herd of 110. Comparable growth was evident in the student body with an enrollment of 4,783 including the graduate and summer schools.

Dr. Bluford dedicated his life to the service of this Institution of higher learning.

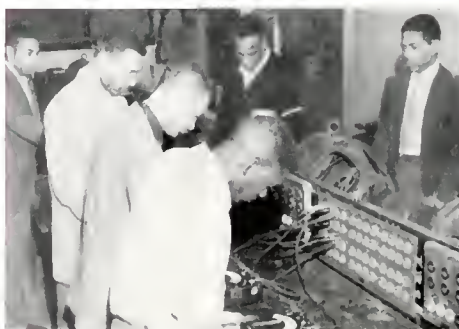

Students came not only from North Carolina's one hundred counties and adjoining states and the District of Columbia, but from four foreign countries. The 230 faculty and staff members far exceeded the 73 member core of worker's in 1926. Six schools were launched and the Bluford administration had very effectively promoted the Land-Grant College ideal.

FEBRUARY 1, 1960

For the want of a piece of pie, a national revolution was launched.

THE GREENSBORO FOUR

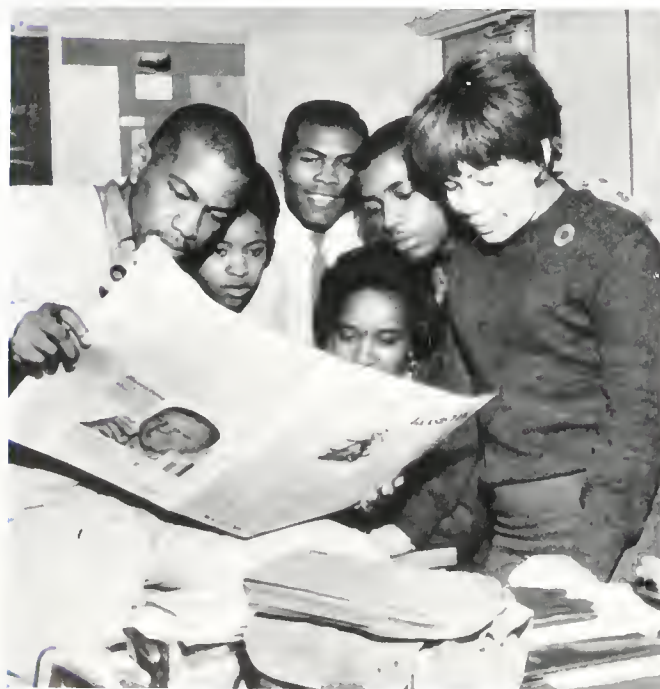

The four A&T freshmen entered the WOOLWORTH'S STORE in downtown Greensboro on FEBRUARY 1, 1960 at about 3:30 p.m.

They purchased some school supplies at one of the counters then took seats at the lunch counter.

Blair ordered the pie and others coffee, but a nervous waitress said, "WE CAN'T SERVE YOU."

"I wanted to know why not," remembers McCain. "WE ARE PREPARED TO WAIT UNTIL SOMEONE SERVES US," he told her. They remained in the store until closing time, but were not served.

They returned to the lunch counter the next day with two additional students, and by the third day, about 25 of them occupied every seat at the lunch counter. AND THAT'S THE WAY IT WAS. AN EVENT THAT CHANGED THE COURSE OF HISTORY.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY DR. GIBBS ON YOUR 100th CELEBRATION

DR. WARMOTH T. GIBBS
(1955 - 1960)

Although he retired after serving as President for only four years, 1956-1960, WARMOTH THOMAS GIBBS, to the fullest extent, preserved the college's traditions, enhanced it, and left something of himself there. He, too, was considered one of the builders of the institution having served with the highest loyalty, efficiency, and energy for more than thirty years as teacher, director of the summer school, dean of the School of Education and General Studies and President.

While encouraging others in continuous high scholastic attainment, his own professional advancement was evidenced in his writings. Among these are his article, "Military Training of the School Boy and His Later Life," Infantry Journal of Washington, D.C., 1929; a series of articles, "Hiram R. Revels and His Times," Quarterly Review of Higher Education, 1937-1938; "Engineering Education in Land-Grant Colleges," Journal of Education, and a full biography: Matthew W. Dogan of Wiley College.

He played an inspirational role in the successful accomplishments of the College Register becoming the advisor in 1929 when the circulation was very small, but as the College progressed, so did the Register, and by 1964, it had a distribution of 3,000 per edition.

The growth of A&T, especially since the war, has been phenomenal as its enrollment, physical facilities and expanded faculty all attest. Dr. Gibbs famous quotes - "VISION AND PRACTICALITY MUST BE EFFECTIVELY BLENDED SO THAT STUDENTS, COMMUNITY, STATE, AND NATION ALIKE WILL BE BEST SERVED," guided the University to accreditation.

Through an unforeseen chain of circumstances, he was invited to become president of the Agricultural and Technical College. On July 1, 1960, he accepted, having served successively as pastor of the Pond Street Baptist Church in Providence, Rhode Island, and Professor of Philosophy, Dean of the School of Religion, Vice President and President of Virginia Union University in Richmond, Virginia. On March 18, 1961, Dr. Samuel DeWitt Proctor was inaugurated.

Dr. Samuel D. Proctor
(1960 - 1964)

His period at the College, though marked by its brevity, was significant, for he breathed into the faculty the spirit of excellent achievement that can develop only from a sense of security and well-being. Animosities of the past died away, new positions were created, and some additions were made to the physical plant. In the short period, the Agricultural and Technical College was on the verge of a transformation not comparable to any other in her history.

FIFTH PRESIDENT Agricultural and Technical College

President's Reception for Freshman Students

Respect for his scholarship and devotion to duty earned for him membership in several professional and educational groups. Commenting upon his resignation, Dr. Proctor said, "I found it difficult to decline Mr. Shriver's invitation to return to the Peace Corps. Despite my deep, personal loyalties to higher education in general, and to A. and T. College in particular, the urgency of the summons to serve the country - especially after the death of President John F. Kennedy - seemed overriding."

1964 STUDENT GOVERNMENT

The Student Government Association during the 1963-64 academic year reached a new high in its services to A&T College, its students and faculty. Headed by the popularly-elected Jesse Jackson, a senior sociology major, the organization got an early start on its work and handled its program with efficiency and dispatch.

During the past decade, a number of new physical structures were completed to house academic programs as well as student services programs. Most notable among the new facilities were the Memorial Student Union, hub of student activity on campus, Merrick Hall, a $1,360,000 facility which houses the School of Business and Economics, the Crosby Hall, which houses the departments of humanities, foreign languages, speech, drama, reading and English, the Student Dining Center, High Rise Dormitory and Senior Dormitory.

Dr. Lewis C. Dowdy
(1964 - 1980)

Dr. Dowdy's desire was to focus attention on the development of the core of the University. His distinguished leadership in American higher education gained him the Presidency of the National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges in 1972. Under Dr. Dowdy's leadership A. and T. attained University status in 1968 and became a member of the University of North Carolina System in 1972. During his years as President, enrollment climbed from 3,229 students to 5,467.

SIXTH PRESIDENT/CHANCELLOR NC A&T State University

A&T Alumni presented in 1966, $25,000 in cash as their share for the College to qualify for a matching grant by the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation. The Association then set a goal to raise $75,000 to coincide with the Diamond Anniversary of the College.

National accreditation was awarded for the School of Engineering, the School of Nursing, the Department of Chemistry, the Department of Sociology and Social Service, the Teacher Education Programs, the Department of Industrial Technology, the Media Program, the Graduate School, and the School of Business and Economics symbolizing Dr. Dowdy's image as a MASTERFUL BUILDER.

Dr. Dowdy called upon the faculty, students, alumni and the Board of Trustees to support efforts to bring about curriculum reform, academic reorganization improvement in student quality and faculty development. The basis for some important changes was a comprehensive institutional Self-Analysis and Long-Range Projection Study.

IT IS THE FUNCTION OF EDUCATION TO RESTORE THE MAN HIS SENSE OF WHOLENESS. IF WE ARE TO HAVE MEN WITH A SENSE OF THEIR INTRINSIC VALUE, WITH THE BELIEF THAT MEANING EXISTS IN THE UNIVERSE AND WITH A COMMITMENT TO THE MISSION IN LIFE, WE MUST LOOK TO HIGHER EDUCATION TO PRODUCE THEM.

During the period 1980-1981, Dr. Cleon Franklin Thompson, Jr., served as Chancellor at the North Carolina Agricultural and Technical State University. The University was selected to participate in establishment of the State's new Microelectronics Center. This program, a joint venture involving North Carolina A&T State University, North Carolina State University at Raleigh, The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, Duke University in Durham, The University of North Carolina at Charlotte, and the Research Triangle Institute, was developed in order to attract electronic industries to the state.

Dr. Cleon F. Thompson, Jr.
(1980-1981)

Continued emphasis on improvement in student quality, coupled with successful faculty development provided the basis for innovative teaching and learning. During this time, the University's percentage of doctorates increased to 57%. Fifty-two Research projects in the areas of Transportation, food science, biomedical studies, environmental studies, animal science problems, poverty and international development contributed $3.2 million to the University. The University's construction outlay in fiscal 1980-1981 was $9.7 million. Equipment expenditures totalled $845,000.

SEVENTH CHANCELLOR NC A&T STATE UNIVERSITY

Dr. Thompson felt that "the University must continue to evaluate findings and indicators of the recent self-studies and accreditations."

In addition to stimulating economic activity, the University a major role in improving the overall quality of life in many areas. It was estimated that there were over 5,000 alumni of the University living in Guilford County, contributing to the well being of all. The Thompson Interlude provided a strong bridge between two far-sighted and progressive University administrations. In August, 1985, he accepted the position of Chancellor at Winston-Salem State University in Winston-Salem, N.C.

In recommending Fort to the Board of Governors for the A. and T. chancellorship, Dr. William Friday, president of the University of North Carolina, said that "Fort has a reputation as an exceedingly effective administrator. His enthusiasm and strength will enhance A. and T." Fort received unanimous support from the board and he became the eighth chancellor on September 1, 1981. "I accept this chance of a lifetime because it is precisely that - a singularly unique opportunity to make a difference in the lives of the students who come to this historic campus to prepare for careers," said Fort. He added, "my wife and I plan to serve this University community as a team, and with our two teenagers, bring to the chancellor's residence a sense of openness and receptivity to new ideas and new thrusts designed to promote mission accommodation for this historic institution.

DR. EDWARD B. FORT
(1981 - Present)

EIGHTH CHANCELLOR NC A&T STATE UNIVERSITY

As Chancellor, under the aegis of the new administrative structure, he launched an ambitious fourteen-point program designed to deal effectively with a multiplicity of challenges, ranging from fiscal affairs revitalization to the enhancement of academic support services for underachieving students and the institutionalization of student enrollment marketing and retention strategies. Fort has produced some major achievements including: successfully meeting the challenges associated with the School of Nursing. The program gained full accreditation for eight years from the National League of Nursing and achieved 100 percent passage rate for its graduates on the State Nursing Examination in 1983.

The hallmarks of this period have been orderly curricula innovations, a masterful capital improvements program including campus beautification, increased public awareness and external support, and successful faculty and student development programs.

The University's selection by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration to participate in a cooperative $8.4 million Mars Mission Research Center with North Carolina State University, was based solely on the research capabilities of the University's professors and the laboratory facilities available.

THE BLUFORD ERA

Founders Day, 1945 — Attorney Elreeta Alexander, Judge Charles A. Hines, chairman of the Board of Trustees; Dr. Earl H. McGlenney, president of St. Paul's College and Dr. F. D. Bluford.

TO THE SENIOR CLASS

The Freshman Class of 1948 (the Senior Class of 1952) has based its four years' work on three sayings of Theodore Roosevelt:

"All daring and courage, all iron endurance of misfortune, make for a finer, noble type of manhood."

"Courage, hard work, self-mastery, and intelligent effort are all essential to a successful life."

"Only those are fit to live who do not fear to die, and none are fit to live who have shrunk from the joy of life and the duty of life."

The work has been hard and the competition keen. For four years you have made endless sacrifices in order that you would realize this day. Already you see the results of hard work. The real payoff will come to those of you who will be better able to face the hardships of life, and who will receive a lasting joy out of serving mankind as a trustee for God and Humanity.

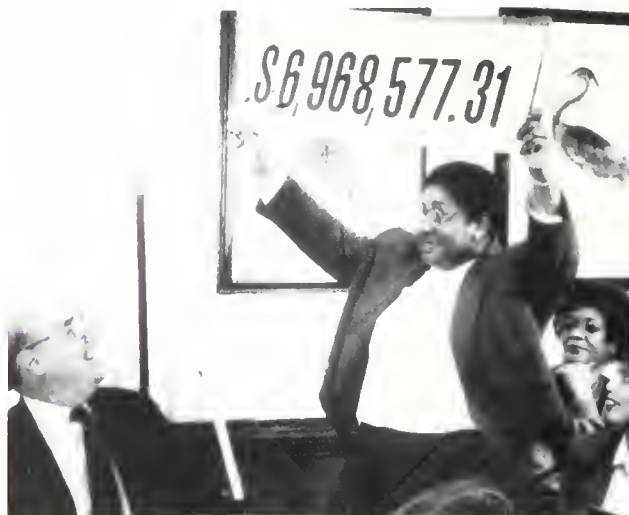

May you remain loyal, sincere and efficient, and may you carry with you into the waiting world a proven message and much needed leadership.

Constant pursuit of excellence continued to be the benchmark of our campus. This thrust was clearly reflected in the superb academic achievements of the University's more than 7,500 students, the world class teaching and research acumen of its professors, and the extraordinary support of its administrators, Board of Trustees, alumni, Board of Visitors, A&T University Foundation, A&T Industry Cluster and Industry Advisory Group.

The Chancellor's Annual Report documents some of the publicly documented progress of the University, in terms of enrollment, growth, program and curriculum development, research astuteness, and service to mankind. It is a remarkable story which defies duplication. This is not the story of a great University resting on its laurels. As the flagship historically black university in North Carolina and one of the largest in the nation, North Carolina Agricultural and Technical State University has continued to reinforce its readiness and capacity to assist the nation in reestablishing its economic leadership in the world. A&T AND THE CENTENNIAL

One of the milestones of this great University's history will be the year-long celebration of its Centennial. The observance will be complete with all of the ruffles and flourishes associated with the sponsoring of convocations, lectures, concerts and special activities to commemorate the many contributions of North Carolina A&T State University to the state and the nation. The University's Centennial Planning Committee spent more than two years in developing this outstanding program for your participation and enjoyment. This superb calendar represents a comprehensive review of some of the highlights of these magnificent 100 years, as well as a listing of many of the centennial activities. This celebration has been conceived with you, our supporters, in mind. We cordially invite you and your family to enjoy the calendar and to visit the campus as often as possible during the Centennial year.

The founders of A&T State University possessed an enlightened dream. Those dedicated individuals who have labored here during the past century, nourished that dream and have helped to establish the University as one of the finest in the nation. With your support, we look forward to continuing this tradition of excellence and achievements into the 21st century.

The School Of Agriculture Enters The Space Age ...

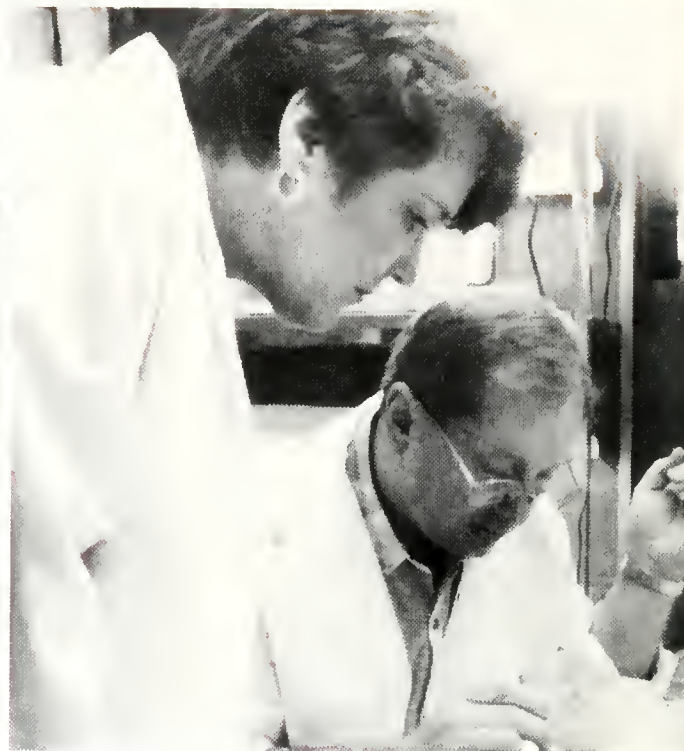

In keeping with A&T's commitment to research, teaching and extension, the School of Agriculture has joined 35 other land grant universities in Ag*Sat, a satellite communications network.

Dr. Burleigh C. Webb, dean of the school, explains how Ag*Sat will enhance the School's ability to share scientific knowledge with students, teachers and farmers throughout the country and, eventually, the world. Hookups, asking questions and receiving answers just as they would in a traditional classroom or conference room setting.

Dr. Donald McDowell discusses the importance of International Trade.

A Centennial Reflection

The history of this great University can not be considered without recalling the significant contributions of participating Artists. Our University has been a glorious past, replete with all of the ruffles and flourishes as associated with heroes, martyrs, leaders, and builders. As a part of this history the men and women who have become internationally known have been led by persons such as Martin Luther King, Jr., Julian Bond, Pearl Jones, Justice Thurgood Marshall, Harriet Tubman, Mary McCleod Bethune, Jesse Jackson, Dr. Ronald McNair and many more who, because of their presence on this soil, have led the way as pertains to "access for all." KEEP MOVING AHEAD

Stand tall and be erect; always command and demand respect. Hold up high your stately head; Read, but never feel that you have read. Think well of yourself and be proud; Speak up, but don't speak too loud. Straighten up your royal back; And get rid of all your slack. With stomach in push out your chest; And always be sure to do your best. Step up high and forward too; But don't step backward whatever you do. In whatever direction you are being led; Just make sure you keep moving ahead.

AN AGENDA FOR THE FUTURE

he North Carolina Agricultural & Technical State University is currently engaged in a major effort to enhance its educational opportunities for its students and faculty. The University stands poised not only to be a leader in the development of a new generation of leaders in the field of agriculture, but also to be a leader in the development of a new generation of leaders in the field of technology.

However, it will take more than a few years to build a strong and effective university. It will require the continued support of alumni, government, business, and industry. The University is currently engaged in a major effort to enhance its educational opportunities for its students and faculty. The University stands poised not only to be a leader in the development of a new generation of leaders in the field of agriculture, but also to be a leader in the development of a new generation of leaders in the field of technology.

The University's future will be shaped by the needs to which it is able to respond. It will be a leader in the development of a new generation of leaders in the field of agriculture, but also to be a leader in the development of a new generation of leaders in the field of technology.

In recent years, the University has been a leader in the development of a new generation of leaders in the field of agriculture, but also to be a leader in the development of a new generation of leaders in the field of technology. The University's future will be shaped by the needs to which it is able to respond. It will be a leader in the development of a new generation of leaders in the field of agriculture, but also to be a leader in the development of a new generation of leaders in the field of technology.

The University's highest priorities are in the field of agriculture, but also to be a leader in the development of a new generation of leaders in the field of technology. The University's future will be shaped by the needs to which it is able to respond. It will be a leader in the development of a new generation of leaders in the field of agriculture, but also to be a leader in the development of a new generation of leaders in the field of technology. The University's future will be shaped by the needs to which it is able to respond. It will be a leader in the development of a new generation of leaders in the field of agriculture, but also to be a leader in the development of a new generation of leaders in the field of technology.

The University's concern and response to these societal needs lead it inexorably to accelerate its efforts to meet these needs. This is the primary reason for which the Centennial Campaign has been launched, and it is strong, private support at this time which will be so significant to the future of North Carolina Agricultural & Technical State University, our state, and the nation.

ABOUT THE DIRECTOR

PAUL ANTHONY McRAE, a native of Liverpool, England, studied music at the Julliard School and conducting at the Eastman School of Music. In 1984 he won the highly coveted conducting diploma from the Academia Musicale Chigiana in Sienna, Italy. Since becoming Music Director of the Greensboro Symphony in 1987, he has brought innovative educational programs to the Greensboro Symphony and to thousands of children.

He was awarded the "Critic's Choice" award by the American Library Association for his series of five music education videos, "Discovering the Orchestra," with the London Philharmonic in 1988. In 1986, Mr. McRae received an award for Outstanding Programs for Youth from the Women's Association of the American Symphony Orchestra League.

Paul Anthony McRae
Music Director

The Greensboro Symphony Orchestra

The origins of the Greensboro Symphony Orchestra go back to the 1920's when a group of musicians at Women's College (University of North Carolina - Greensboro) banded together under the direction of Henry Fauhs. Paul Anthony McRae joined the Orchestra as it's new Music Director in June of 1987.

The Greensboro Symphony Orchestra is a member of the American Symphony Orchestra League, American Arts Alliance, Association of Symphony Orchestras of North Carolina, Arts Advocates of North Carolina and is a funded member of the United Arts Council of Greensboro.

About Ann Hobson-Pilot

Ann Hobson-Pilot has been a professional harpist for over 20 years. She has been a member of both the Boston Symphony and the Boston Pops since 1969. The Boston Symphony Orchestra named her principal harpist in 1980.

In addition to solo appearances with the Boston Symphony and the Boston Pops, she has appeared as guest soloist with the National Symphony in Washington, the Winston-Salem Symphony, the Flint Michigan Symphony and other orchestras around the country. Hobson-Pilot began playing the piano at age 5, but switched to the harp later.

The New F. D. Bluford

ALMA A. ADAMS received the B.S. degree in Art Education from N.C.A. & T. State University in 1969. In 1972 she received the Masters degree from A. & T. In 1981 Adams received her Ph.D. from Ohio State University. She is engaged in research about African-American children. Dr. Adams is a founding member of the African American Atelier, Inc. in the Greensboro Cultural Center. In 1990 she was awarded a three-year Fellowship from the W.K. Kellogg Foundation. Currently Alma Adams is Director of the Humanities Division at Bennett College.

LYNWOOD BARNES received his B.S. in Painting and Design from N.C.A. & T. State University in 1976. After graduation he was an apprentice graphic artist in Washington, D.C. Now he is a full time freelancer in Graphic Design. In 1978 he worked as an exhibition specialist for the Smithsonian Institute Anacostia Gallery. In 1980 Barnes became an illustrator for Bolling Air Force Base in Washington D.C. He has been in this position for the past 11 years.

KAY FRANCES CAMBELL, professionally known as Kai Kamble, now lives and works at Northwestern University where she is working on her Ph.D. and is Art Services Manager. She received her B.S. in 1972 from N.C.A. & T. State University. At Bowling Green State University in Ohio, Kai received her M.A. in Painting and Art History. At the same University she received her M.F.A. in Painting and Graphics.

ETHEL GUEST received her degree from N.C.A. & T. State University in 1949. She attended Howard and Boston Universities and participated in seminars in Europe and Africa. Ms. Guest served as art teacher in the Charlotte schools. Her paintings are in many corporate and private collections. She has exhibited in the Mint Museum of Art, the H.C. Taylor Art Gallery, the state Museum and many others. For 36 years she worked with inner city children developing many programs. She has received many awards for her work. Her career in the arts is quite varied and extensive. Her credits and awards are too numerous for this space.

MORGAN FREEMAN was born June 1, 1937 to Morgan Porterfield Freeman, a barber, and Mayme Edna (Revere) Freeman, a teacher and nurse's aide. Freeman is a native of Memphis, Tennessee and is the middle child in a family of five siblings, (three brothers and one sister). Freeman made his acting debut at the age of eight, when he performed the title role in a school production of "LITTLE BOY BLUE." A partial scholarship in dramatics was offered to him by Jackson State College in Jackson, Mississippi, but, long fascinated by the dogfights he had witnessed in war films, he rejected the offer in order to enroll in the United States Air Force. He was discharged in 1959 in San Bernardino, California. Freeman headed for Hollywood in search of acting work. Five months later, he returned to the West Coast and joined a San Francisco musical theater troupe called the Opera Ring, and he attracted his first press notice when played the street singer in the company's production of Kurt Weill and Bertolt Brecht's "THE THREEPENNY OPERA."

From 1965 to 1984, there were numerous stage roles. In 1987 he played "HOKE COLBURN", in DRIVING MISS DAISY, appeared in The Case of Denmark Vesey and in 1990 he appeared in a Shakespeare in the Park production of the Taming of the Shrew. His film career has included scores of roles both major and minor. In a review, a critic for New Yorker Magazine raised the question: "Is Morgan Freeman the greatest actor in America today?" and concluded that he was. Received the New York Film Critics Circle Award, the Los Angeles Film Critic Award, and the National Film Critics Award as the Best Supporting Actor, nominated for the Golden Globe and Academy Awards for Best Supporting Actor. During the years 1988-89, he appeared in five movies: CLEAN AND SOBER, LEAN ON ME (the true-life story of Joe Clark, the principal of Eastside High), JOHNNY HANDSOME, GLORY AND DRIVING MISS DAISY. His TV Movies have included: ROLL OF THUNDER, HEAR MY CRY, HOLLOW IMAGE, ATTICA, THE MARVA COLLINS STORY, THE ATLANTA CHILD MURDERS, THE EXECUTION OF RAYMOND GRAHAM, RESTING PLACE, CLINTON AND NADINE. His Soap Opera Career has been with NBC daytime Soap Opera ANOTHER WORLD.

Chancellor's Homecoming Statement

October 26, 1991

The 1991 Centennial Homecoming celebration will be of special significance to the on-campus Aggie family as well as to the more than 25,000 visiting alumni and friends from across the nation.

This will be a memorable occasion in many respects. Not only will our current students and alumni be able to reminisce about pleasantries associated with their stay at A&T, but they will also be favorably impressed with the magnificent building program and campus beautification which have taken place here over the years.

Because of the distinguished leadership of 100 years, the North Carolina Agricultural and Technical State University, has gained wide recognition as a world-class educational complex. As we begin a second century of service, the University stands poised for even greater accomplishments. With a record enrollment of more than 7,000 undergraduate and graduate students, with record research funds being generated annually by A&T professors, and with the University very close to offering its first doctoral degrees, the future looms extremely encouraging.

I salute the Student Government Association and the student body for their superb planning of events and activities associated with the Homecoming celebration. I know that you will be gracious hosts and that you will reflect in a commendable way the true meaning of Aggie spirit. To the alumni, we sincerely welcome you and hope that your visit to the campus will be an enjoyable one and that you will return to your communities of residence, thoroughly and invigorated and refreshed.

Sincerely,

STUDENT GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION

Greetings:

On behalf of the Executive Board and Student Body, it gives me great pleasure to extend this warm and sincere WELCOME to FELLOW AGGIES and FRIENDS as we celebrate our CENTENNIAL HOMECOMING. In reflection, this year's homecoming theme AN UNFORGETTABLE PAST "A CELEBRATED FUTURE," strengthens the ideals and dreams of what AGGIE PRIDE really symbolizes.

The epitome of "EXCELLENCE IN EVERY ENDEAVOR," is the foundation of which members of the Student Government Association diligently pursue in our efforts to provide for the historical student body of 7000+ students enrolled at North Carolina Agricultural and Technical State University.

To A&T, we salute you, for your endeared 100 YEARS of loyal and committed service. Thus, we ask that you continue to serve your students for a SECOND CENTURY. It is felt that marvelous contributions will come from students who will grace your hallowed halls and from those who have turned from thee, to spread thy trophies year by year from Dare to Cherokee.

WELCOME HOME AGGIES AND FRIENDS! Have an enjoyable and safe Homecoming. GFT ON YOUR MARK! GET SET! READY! GO...

Sincerely,

My Dear Fellow Aggies:

NORTH CAROLINA AGRICULTURAL AND TECHNICAL STATE UNIVERSITY has a rich heritage and reputation for which every student and alumnus can be proud. Since the first graduating class, A&T has been paving the pathway of excellence.

It is a very special honor that I have been chosen to represent such a great Institution for the CENTENNIAL HOMECOMING. As we renew the true sense of Aggie Pride by commemorating AN UNFORGETTABLE PAST: "A CELEBRATED FUTURE," let us remember the love and dedication upon which this great University was founded and strive to perpetuate its excellence.

Avantee Advisor

The Publication of the 1991-92 Ayantee Yearbook represents a product of the combined efforts of many individuals and organizations. The staff and advisor accordingly express their gratitude to the many students, organizations, departmental clubs, faculty-staff and administrators who devoted their energies and expertise toward the preparation of this Volume.

Pages have been organized along the lines to include typical events as performed under the administration of each President-Chancellor from 1891-1992, as "AN AGGIE CELEBRATION AND CHALLENGE."

Darrin Campbell
Managing Editor

In the final stage of preparation, the supportive staff in the Division of Student Affairs, Miss Cynthia Bailey, Mr. Wayne Wolfe, Yearbook Representative Ms. Stephanie Gates and Mrs. Harriett Davis kindly took on the task of constructing a method of giving close attention to each page.

Finally, this Volume of The Ayantee Yearbook would not have been completed without the unstinting efforts and total commitment of our advisor, Mrs. Dorothy I. Bailey, who assumes responsibility for any errors of fact or judgement.

National Society of Black Engineers

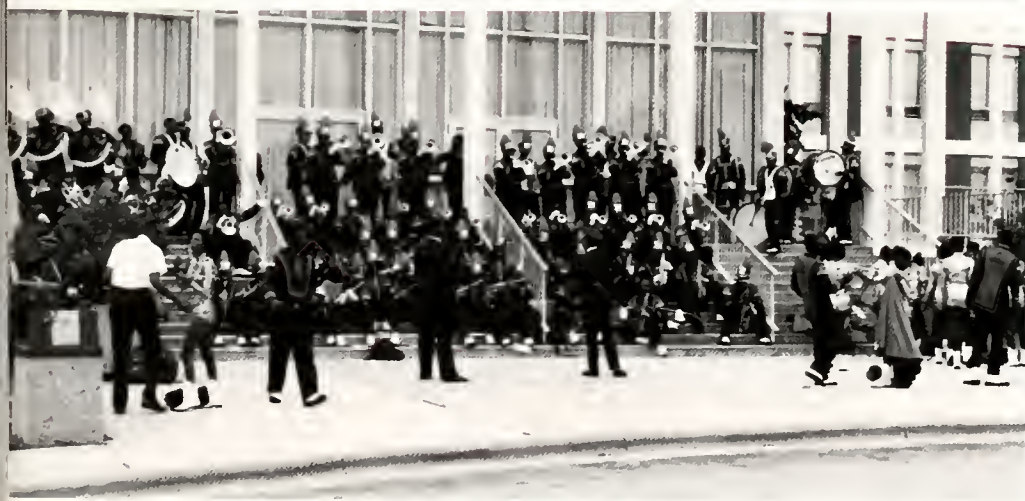

The purpose of the chapter is to aid the students in engineering, computers, science, technical and math related fields. Also, aid in the retention, motivation, and successful graduation of students. Carson Funderburk serves as president and Dr. Lonnie Sharpe, Jr. is advisor.

MRS. VIRGINIA D. McKEE Served as Chairperson of the Centennial Committee

Lectures, Concerts, Workshops, all added flavor during the Centennial Year.

Our Centennial programs have attempted to tell a fascinating A&T story in unadorned prose, avoiding moral or special pleading. To the extent we have succeeded in this, mind has conquered hearts, for this has been a labor of love as shown by the Chairperson, Mrs. Virginia Durham McKee. For the most part this story is told in the words and pictures of a few Aggies who made history. Many quotations used in this narrative as well as the eyewitness sections, is by persons contemporaneous with the events or people described - we owe a debt of gratitude to Dr. Richard Moore and Dr. Edward B. Fort.
